The MS in Innovation and Entrepreneurship (MSIE) degree prepares students for careers in new venture development, entrepreneurial finance, angel or venture capital investment, or in innovation-related roles in established organizations (such as strategic marketing, product marketing, business development and project management).

The UT Dallas graduate Innovation and Entrepreneurship degree program is:
- No. 10 among similar graduate programs in the U.S., The Princeton Review and Entrepreneur (2021)
- Offering experienced-based courses such as Startup Launch, which enables students to launch companies while receiving academic credits. Students with scalable concepts can apply for up to $25,000 in funding to support their launch.

Program Description
The MS in Innovation and Entrepreneurship requires the completion of a minimum of 36 semester credit hours. For complete admission and degree requirements, view the MSIE academic website, the Graduate Catalog at catalog.utdallas.edu.

The MSIE lets students choose between two focus areas: 1) The New Venture concentration or 2) The Innovation within the Corporation concentration. The program emphasizes technology-based innovation, consistent with, and complementary to, UT Dallas' strengths in science, engineering, computer science and management disciplines.

Career Opportunities
Graduates of the program seek such positions as: leadership executives in global firms and “intrapreneural” innovation-driven driving positions in established companies and self-employment startup venture.

Marketable Skills
The MS in Innovation & Entrepreneurship provides students with experiential “real-world” practical training and nationally-ranked curriculum to successfully develop a new product in a competitive corporate environment or create their own business concept and mature it from idea to funded company. Students will be able to:
- Identify opportunities, create a product concept, conduct market research, evaluate different business models, and develop a team to create and deliver a new product in a competitive corporate environment.
- Identify opportunities, create a product concept, conduct market research, evaluate different business models, and develop a team to create and deliver a new product in a competitive corporate environment.
- Learn the requirements of and perform a successful product & business pitch to investors, customers, corporate partners, and managers.
- Learn examples of corporate innovation philosophy and methodology and the rigorous process of venture capital funding and phases of startup growth.
- Understand and take advantage of all the curriculum, tools and real-world external elements necessary to create a new business, such as funding sources, legal assistance, assistance networks, and the unique internal resources of UT Dallas which include the Venture Development Center, the Blackstone LaunchPad, and the Office of Technology Commercialization.

Naveen Jindal School of Management

About the School

The University of Texas at Dallas Naveen Jindal School of Management (JSOM) is the largest of UT Dallas’ eight schools, with an enrollment of about 9,000 with almost half who are graduate students. The school provides outstanding tuition value, a wide variety of classes on campus and online, flexible scheduling and a convenient location. The Jindal School of Management keeps abreast of business needs as an essential component in providing students with rigorous training and relevant skills for professional success. Programs are offered at the undergraduate, MBA, master’s, PhD and executive levels. Programs are organized around six broad topics of business specialization:

- Accounting
- Finance and Managerial Economics
- Information Systems
- Marketing
- Operations Management
- Organizations, Strategy and International Management

A broad array of internship and scholarship opportunities is made available to Jindal School students each academic year. The school operates its own Career Management Center, which students may use in addition to the campus-wide UT Dallas Career Center. More than 70 student organizations are based in the school. Most of these focus on career development in specific fields and build networking, internship and employment opportunities. U.S. News & World Report (2021) ranks the school’s Full-Time MBA program at No. 33 (tied) in the nation and tied for No. 12 (tied) among public university programs in the United States. In the same ranking, the publication places the Professional (Part-Time) MBA at No. 19 (tied) in the nation.
